Bentley '04, BS Management

How Bentley turned Devin's passion for adventure into the business of life.

Armed with a management degree from Bentley, extensive leadership experience and a passion for adventure, Devin was ready to make a difference in the world. So he joined the Peace Corps as an economic development volunteer in Bulgaria. Today, Devin is putting the advanced business training and critical thinking skills he gained at Bentley to good use in the small community of Berkovitsa. In fact, he's already made an impact by helping to start a business cooperative for local artisans. Because of the solid grounding in cultural literacy, social responsibility and business technology he received at Bentley, Devin is well prepared to pursue his passion in the world of business...and to succeed in the business of life.
